Frost & Sullivan features Mr. Kishor Patil's Insights

Movers & Shakers Interview with Mr. Kishor Patil, Co-founder, CEO and MD of KPIT Technologies Limited

Today, the automotive industry is shifting inexorably towards software defined vehicles (SDVs). To learn more about this trend, Frost & Sullivan spoke to Mr. Kishor Patil, Co-founder, CEO and MD of KPIT Technologies Limited. Pune-based KPIT is a leading middleware and software integration partner to the global automotive and mobility industry. The company is currently working on six key SDV programs, has strategic partnerships with 25+ OEMs, more than 50+ patents, and over 25+ innovation awards as it moves to fast-track the journey to a cleaner, smarter, and safer world.

"We would like to see the Indian auto industry move from fourth position to becoming the third largest automotive market in the world. In parallel, we would like to see India emerge as the technology backbone of the global auto industry."

- Kishor Patil, Co-founder, CEO and MD KPIT Technologies
